

Federally Qualified Health Centers – Baltimore Region

The Federal Community Health Center Program [Section 330 of the U.S. Public Health Services Act in 1965] was established to make medical care more accessible to low-income and traditionally disenfranchised Americans. They are private, nonprofit corporations that perform a critical role in the communities they serve.

At a Community Health Center, no one is denied services, regardless of ability to pay, residential location, age, gender, religion or ethnicity.
